Father Bludgeons His 3 Children To Death, Injures Wife, Kills Self

SPRINGFIELD, Va. (AP)—Failing a baseball bat with frenzied fierceness, the son of a former controversial anti-Communist investigator Saturday bludgeoned his three teenage children to death and injured his wife. He then killed himself with a butcher knife.

Authorities said there was no immediate explanation for the attack by J. B. Matthews Jr., 40, an aeronautical engineer for the Federal Aviation Agency and a church deacon.

Victims of their father's attack were 13-year-old twins, Stephen and Sharon, and Ann Susan Matthews, 14. Their mother, also struck with the bat, was taken to a hospital where her condition was reported as fair.

Neighbors who said they regarded Matthews as a home-loving man reported he had been ill recently and had complained of headaches and eye trouble.

FBI Agent Richard C. Whitehead, 34, next door neighbor of the Matthews family, was the first to arrive at the scene after the injured wife ran for help.

"As I approached all I heard were thuds," Whitehead said, "I opened the door—it was awful."

"The children were all lying prone on the floor. There wasn't a sound from them. They apparently were unconscious."

"Standing over the girls with the bat still in his hand was Joe. He said only a few words: 'Dick, I'm sorry. Kill me. Shoot me, Dick.'"

Whitehead said he replied, "Joe, give me that bat," and that Matthews gave it to him without hesitation.

"But it wasn't all over," Whitehead added. "All in a few seconds, Joe made a dash of just a few feet into the kitchen, grabbed Ground-Effect Machine Due For Inspection

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The House Space Committee is lowering its sights to new-fangled vehicles that scoot along on a cushion of air just above the earth's surface.

The congressmen are going to look over several models in demonstrations Monday and Tuesday when they hold hearings on the feasibility of such machines.

A secretary in the committee ofice can attest they work. Recently she floated one out and found herself sliding about the room on a cushion of air, according to a committee report.

The machine was shaped like a Navy life raft, and made of an aluminum alloy. Two fans inside pulled the air down, causing the machine to rise above the floor two or three inches, where it floated.

It's called a "ground-effect" machine. A committee announcement issued Saturday said the government and private groups both here and abroad had shown considerable interest in the new type of transportation.

U.S. Will Urge Allies To Demand All-Berlin Policy In Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP)—

The United States will urge its Western allies next week to demand of the Soviet Union that East as well as West Berlin be embraced in any new international plan for the city.

U. S. officials said Saturday this government has decided it is essential for the United States, Britain, France and West Germany to follow an "all-Berlin policy" in negotiating with the Soviets at the foreign ministers meeting due to open at Geneva May 11.

An "all-Berlin policy," these authorities said, means that the West would insist that the Big Four powers accept anew an obligation to hold Berlin in trust pending its restoration as the capital of a reunited Germany.

In effect, that would be a reaffirmation of the postwar agreement on Berlin among the U.S.S.R., the United States, Britain and France.

Officials of the four Western governments will meet in London next week to resume negotiations on development of policies. In spite of weeks of debate, there still will be some differences between British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and the leaders of the other Western powers.

Diplomats of all the Western powers do agree on two tactical points, apart from the broad principle that they will not be driven out of Berlin by Soviet war threats. These points are (1) that there is virtually no chance of winning Soviet agreement to a start of German reunification and (2) that the really tough bargaining will come over the future of West Berlin.

These facts suggest that the foreign ministers meeting and the prospective summit conference will take the following shape:

1. The first phase of foreign ministers meeting, following the usual wrangle of over procedural issues, will be marked by rival proposals. The West will urge a step-by-step plan for reunifying Germany and adopting new security measures in Europe. The Soviets will argue for a German peace treaty to be signed separately with the East German and West German governments.

The first phase will almost surely end in disagreement between the Soviet and Western powers.

2. The second phase of the conference will be concerned directly with the future of Berlin.

He said he came to visit the shrines of Abraham Lincoln and to take part in the sesquicentennial observance of his birth.

He set out at once for Lincoln's tomb in Oak Ridge Cemetery.

His visit is the first by a royal ruler since the 1919 tour of Belgium's King Albert.

The 23-year-old Arab King came from a visit to Chicago. He was a guest at a dinner dance in suburban Hinsdale Friday night.

Earlier Saturday his schedule included a pheasant hunt and an inspection of participants in a fox hunt.

WASHINGTON (AP)—

because the Soviet Union demanded last November that the United States, Britain and France withdraw their troops from West Berlin and let it become a "free city" under some kind of U.N. protection. The West saw this as a trap for a Communist absorption of West Berlin.

3. A third phase may develop in the talks, since agreement by the foreign ministers on the Berlin issue is unlikely in view of the general commitment on both sides to follow up with a summit conference. If the effort to reach an understanding on Berlin is unsuccessful, the Western powers are expected to insist that the Soviet Union at least do nothing that would change the status of East Berlin before or during the prospective summit meeting. Such an agreement may turn out to be the minimum Western price for a summit conference.

4. Western officials estimate the foreign ministers conference will last about a month, and that the summit meeting could be started sometime around the end of July. Any major agreements which are possible—and none may be—would more likely come out of the summit.

Jordan's King Hussein Tours Lincoln Shrine In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan toured Lincoln shrine Saturday, then helped mark National Boys Club week by crowning a tearful 4-year-old girl queen of the Springfield club.

The King tried to pacify anxious Shelley Jean Brown as he placed the token on her head. Her tears burst afresh during the excitement and she ended in the comforting arms of her mother, Mrs. George Brown.

It was the only semi-public appearance of Hussein, the first reigning monarch to visit the state capital in 40 years. He was greeted by a National Guard honor guard and a 21-gun salute.

Then he visited Lincoln shrines, spending about 40 minutes at New Salem and about 30 minutes in Lincoln's home.

Crowds of several hundred created to see the King at some of stops and he was frequently accorded warm applause.

After his flight to Springfield from Chicago and his greeting by Gov. William G. Stratton, Hussein told newsmen in a brief conference at Capitol Airport the trip to the United States and Springfield was his own idea.

He said he came to visit the shrines of Abraham Lincoln and to take part in the sesquicentennial observance of his birth.

Pick Chicago For '60 Convention; Battle Cry Is 'Budget Balancing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—

The Republicans picked a new national chairman, a 1960 national convention city, and a campaign battle cry Saturday.

They are, in that order: Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky. Chicago. Budget balancing.

The GOP National Committee was unanimous in selecting Chicago for the party's 1960 Presidential nominating convention site. It set July 25 as the starting date, two weeks after the Democrats begin their convention in Los Angeles.

Morton succeeded Meade Alcorn of Connecticut, who retired. He told the national committee in accepting its unanimous designation as chairman:

"When the fight comes on the budget, I'm in President Eisenhower's corner foursquare and he knows it."

The budget-balancing theme, sounded by Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, was echoed by nearly every speaker.

These included Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee; Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, head of the House campaign group, and Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate minority leader.

Morton, a husky six-foot former Assistant Secretary of State, classed himself as a "middle of the road Republican."

He told a news conference he had said in Charleston, W. Va., some time ago he was inclined to support Nixon for the 1960 nomination. He added that he had come to know Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York well when the latter served as Under Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare early in the Eisenhower administration.

As between the two potential rivals for the 1960 nomination, Morton said he will be "absolutely neutral."

Pleading for party unity, Morton said the Republican candidates in 1960 are going to have to "run on the philosophy of the administration."

"We haven't got time to engage in either party scraps or division," he said.

Morton, a 55-year-old World War II veteran who served in the House before he was elected to the Senate, said he has no intention of resigning his senatorial job. In response to previous assertions by Goldwater and Simpson that the Republicans ought not to elect a part-time chairman, Morton said he figures he has 119 non-sleeping hours a week in which to fill the job.

Goldwater told the committee the new chairman ought to have a full time, professional assistant.

Highlights of the agreement included a limit on the number of pickets, discouragement of union motorcades, no trespassing on operators' property, no obstructing of roads or railroads by pickets, and no bearing of arms by either pickets or operators.

The union agreed pickets would wear an identifying emblem and would picket in the county where they live. Women who have been in the lines at some mines, were barred.

The agreement applies only to UMW Dist. 30, which includes five of the seven counties involved. However, both parties agreed to present the pact to operators and union officials in Dist. 19, which includes Harlan and Bell counties.

The strike has been marked by one killing. There also have been beatings and dynamitings. Each side has blamed the other for violence.

Morton said he would consider this, but added that he may ask two or three committee members to help out with the campaign work.

In this connection, he said he wants to make all possible use of the talents of Ohio state chairman Ray Bliss, who had been mentioned frequently as a possible campaign assistant.

The new chairman said he also will consider a Goldwater suggestion that he ask to attend cabinet meetings regularly. Alcorn has been present at some meetings but not all.

Goldwater said he wanted to compliment Alcorn for the job he had done under trying circumstances. The Arizona senator said when Alcorn became chairman the operations of the committee had been "dictated by one man in the White House." Without mentioning Sherman Adams by name, he said that "since he has gone home the job of chairman has been an easier one."

However, Alcorn said he had received full cooperation from Adams, his successor Wilton B. Persons and all members of the White House staff.

Dirksen told the committee members at a closing luncheon session that, "We are a conservative party and have the duty to conserve the values, the incentives the assets and the spiritual resources of which we are the legatees and beneficiaries of the hard and conservative endeavors of those who went before us."

LONDON (AP)—The government was reported highly concerned Saturday about a worsening of British-German relations.

But the British appeared determined to avoid an open fight with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They want any differences settled quickly with the important East-West foreign ministers conference at Geneva only a month away.

Editorials and comments in British newspapers have built up a picture of the two allies at loggerheads politically and emotionally.

Adenauer last Wednesday charged that "wire pullers" in Britain were deliberately trying to "impair the mood of Great Britain against Germany."

Adenauer's charge was the subject of a cabinet discussion, British informants reported. They said the consensus among ministers was that Adenauer had exaggerated British press attacks on Germany.

Some British papers have recently been openly hostile to the Germans. But top authorities refuse to regard reporters and journalists, writing independently, as "wire pullers."

After Adenauer's speech, British government spokesmen insisted the West German leader still is welcome in London. It is hoped he can make the trip which ill health forced him to cancel a few months ago.

Friday's Bonn announcement that Adenauer plans early talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French Premier Michel Debre and Italian Premier Antonio was welcomed here.

Direct talks between the four West European leaders will offer a chance to clear the air—and to dispel some of the misunderstanding and resentment that have developed between Britain and Germany.

Chandler called the meeting after warning he would send National Guardsmen into the mountain area unless continued violence was stopped.

Mystery Shrouds Complete Vanishing Of Family In Station Wagon Dec. 7, '58

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Staff Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — On Dec. 7, 1958, between 1 and 2 p.m., Ken Martin backed his red and white Ford station wagon out of the carport of his home in north-eastern Portland.

His wife and three daughters got in, and the family went out for a Sunday drive.

Just another American family out for a Sunday drive. Except—this family never returned.

They disappeared completely. So has their station wagon.

Were they killed in an accident or made the victims of criminals unknown?

No one knows. All clues have been exhausted. Police, planes, boats, large search parties of men on foot and men in vehicles have hunted and found nothing. There is no active search now.

Where do you search after you've already searched in every possible place and logic and fragmentary clues might suggest?

You wait, as the police wait in Portland. Someone—a motorist, a hiker, a boatman—might stumble on something.

You wait, as Donald Martin waits in New York, helpless. He is the only Martin not among the missing. He was not home that Sunday to join his parents and sisters on their drive. Donald is 28, a pharmacist's mate in the Navy attached to the Marine Corps at Ft. Schuler, in New York.

Neither Donald nor anyone else who knew the Martins can think of any reason why they might have wanted to disappear.

Their clothes hung in their closets, where they had left them, in their tidy, compact, shingled home at 1715 N.E. 56th Ave. The Sunday comics lay scattered about where Barbara, 14, Virginia, 13, and Susan, 11, had left them. The breakfast dishes lay in the drain on the sink and a lot of wash remained in the washing machine, where Mrs. Martin had left them.

Martin was a big man, 5-foot-10, 200 pounds. He was cheerful, outgoing, a trusted employee of an appliance company, where he supervised the repair department. His failure to show up for work Monday, Dec. 8, was unprecedented.

He had money in the bank and no known trouble in his job.

His house, which is set in a neatly manicured lawn surrounded by other neat lawns and neat, compact houses, is valued at $15,000. The rest of his cash and property is valued at $15,000.

The Martins liked the outdoors and doing things together.

There were patches of fog early on Dec. 7, but the rising sun soon burned them off. The temperature climbed to 55. It promised to be a perfect day.

About 10:30 a.m., Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Evans of Hubbard dropped in on the Martins. Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Martin are cousins. With the Evanses were their two children and Marcy Welch, 7, daughter of another relative.

The adults visited, the children played. The Evanses were on their way to Sunday dinner at the Calvin E. Welch home. The relationships were close enough that Mrs. Evans asked the Martins to join them. The Martins declined, saying it was a nice day and they planned to "go up the highway for some Christmas greens."

These are Mrs. Evans' words and they later gave the police their first clue or first half-clue. In Portland, the phrase, "up the highway" means to many people up the highway which skirts the Columbia River and leads to spectacular mountains and gorges and greenery.

Did the Martins literally mean up the highway? Or did they simply mean riding out into the country?

Mrs. Welch called and extended the dinner invitation to the Martins. Again, it was declined. Ken Martin noted to Mrs. Evans that his wife had had a bout of the flu and getting out would be a good change for her.

The Evanses left. Some time after 1 p.m., the Martins got into their 1954 station wagon and drove off. Neighbors saw them leave.

Some time later in the afternoon, Dan Baxter, who runs a gas station at Cascade Locks, 42 miles up the Columbia River Highway east of Portland, sold five gallons of "regular" on a credit card signed by Martin.

Later in the afternoon, a "jolly family" drove up to the Paradise Snack Bar at Hood River, 20 miles east of Cascade Locks. Mrs. Clark York, 38, a waitress, recalls, "They were real nice people and seemed quite happy. They said they had been riding around and had been hunting a Christmas tree."

If that was the Martins at the Paradise Snack Bar, it was the last known time anybody saw them.

It is not considered likely the Martins disappeared while actually gathering Christmas greens. Either they had them by the time they reached the Paradise Snack Bar or they probably gave up the plan for gathering them by then.

Mrs. York fixed the time of their departure from the restaurant at 4:15 p.m., roughly. Sun set that day was 4:27 p.m., with darkness coming on, the best guess is that the Martins must have started back. People who knew Ken Martin say he did not enjoy driving at night, and would not have driven after dark on one of the side roads where a car might skid into a canyon.

That left two principal possibilities: a skid into a canyon or into the Columbia River, which is deep and swift beside the highway or foul play. There was no clue suggesting one over the other.

Early in February, a spot of red paint was seen on a rock on the Washington side of the Columbia River above a steep backwater. Could the Martin car have hit the rock and rounded over a cliff into the river?

The paint was scraped and sent to a laboratory in Washington for analysis. It was not Ford paint. That, say police was the last real clue.

And four months later, in the house at 1715 N.E. 56th Ave., the Sunday breakfast dishes remained in the drainer and the comics lay scattered in the stillness.

Jersey Firm Acquires Former Shoe Factory

JERSEYVILLE — Announcement was made Wednesday here by George Hoffstetter, president of the Baughman Manufacturing company of this city, of the purchase by the company of the International Shoe Company factory building and site in Jerseyville.

The shoe factory building, a three story brick structure, will be remodeled, and used as a unit in the expanding program of the local manufacturing company.

Hoffstetter reported that the company at present is employing 150 men in the manufacture of their machinery and products and the expansion program will call for the employment of an additional 150 men.

Hoffstetter indicated that the shoe factory building will be utilized in the manufacture of the lighter machines of the company. At the present time, Baughman is making 36 different mechanical devices, ranging from the large type spreaders for limestone and phosphate to self-feeder devices for livestock raising.

The three story brick building was built in 1919 by subscription of Jerseyville residents at a cost of $30,000 for Roberts Johnson & Rend. A ten year contract signed by the company at that time called for an annual expenditure of $100,000 a year in wages for ten years. This contract was more than fulfilled and the company, later a part of the International Shoe Company, continued in active operation until May 1957, when the plant here was closed under the shoe company's consolidation program.

Fawns Sighted Near Grafton

GERSEVILLE — There are a number of young fawns in the southwestern Jersey county area this spring, according to Bert Dabbs of the Grafton locality who was a Jerseyville visitor Thursday.

Dabbs expressed the belief that the open season on deer in Calhoun and Pike counties may have been the cause of the animals moving down into the Marquette Park area.

During the past year, several deer have been killed by motor vehicles in the Grafton area. Dabbs related how his truck had struck a deer on Route 100 last year. Efforts to salvage the animal failed, and it died at the Dabbs farm after it had been hauled there to be cared for. The Federal warden of the area was notified and the carcass of the deer was turned over to Department of Conservation officers for disposal as provided by the game code.

Objection is growing in the western Jersey county area to the holding of annual meetings of certain hunting associations in that locality. The residents expressing objection to holding hunts in the area declare that the turning loose of large numbers of dogs to chase foxes has resulted in the bounds becoming side-tracked from the fox chase into a deer hunt and that young deer lacking sufficient speed to escape the dogs have been killed.

Educator Tells AAUW Of Salzburg Seminar

A large number of members and guests of the Jacksonville branch of AAUW were encouraged to hear Dr. George Adams report on personal international relations Thursday evening as he talked to the group on "Building for the Future of Europe." He struck an optimistic note in telling of the work of the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies in Salzburg, Austria. Dr. Adams served on the faculty of the seminar for four years and stated that he feels much more optimistic about the future since his tour of duty there.

He described in detail the organization of the seminar, explaining that it is run by Americans for the purpose of acquainting the people of Europe with America and to counteract the false impressions of America which are prevalent in Europe. The seminar is entirely supported by donations from foundations and individuals; there is no government support, hence no political bias is evident in the school.

Donated Service

All teaching is done by donated services of eminent teachers and scholars in this country. Each is given a second-class passage, and board and room for four weeks, the time of each seminar term. Six terms are held during a year and each term is centered around one subject field, such as labor, law, the arts, American literature, etc.

Students are recruited from all the free countries of Europe and also from Yugoslavia. They are chosen for their qualities of leadership and their contacts with other people of their communities. It is in the nature of an award to attend the seminar because a fee of $20 is all that is required for the four-week course. Students live together in an 18th century palace and learn more about understanding each other in that time than is possible anywhere else. They also change many of their ideas about America.

Results Encouraging

Dr. Adams said the results of the seminar are very encouraging to all participants, faculty and students, both. Many alumni later visit America and many of them encourage others to attend the seminar. Results are in-tangible but far reaching and very satisfactory. Something is really being accomplished in international understanding. He concluded his talk by stating that the free people of Europe are strong allies for us. They are anxious to see out best qualities. Their assistance should not be thrown away or disregarded.

The speaker graciously answered questions from the audience following his address.

Mrs. J. Pryor Bossarte, president, opened the meeting and welcomed the guests. The business meeting was shortened to a few minutes. Mrs. Ralph Robbins asked for volunteer workers for the Cancer Drive and a message from Miss Dorothy Fenton, librarian, was read asking for hostesses from AAUW to serve at the open house to be held at the library next week, Friday from 3:45 p.m. to 6 p.m., is the time set for AAUW hostesses.

Mrs. Bossarte also read a communication from the state employment service notifying the members of a youth employment service to be set up this summer for local youth.

Mrs. P. J. Davidemeyer, program chairman, introduced the speaker telling of his many qualifications. He is at present professor and chairman of the department of history at Southern Illinois University.

HEADED FOR TROUBLE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Attorney Don Moses was asking prospective jurors their occupation.

A woman, was asked: "You're a housewife? You don't work?" When the laughter had died down Moses said: "I guess I better not go home tonight if my wife hears about that question."

Rev. Zimmerman Guest Speaker In White Hall

WHITE HALL—The Rev. E. C. Zimmerman of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Adair, Iowa, will be guest speaker for the series of preaching-teaching-reaching services to be held at the local Redeemer Lutheran Church from Sunday, April 12, through Thursday, April 16. He will occupy the pulpit at the 9:40 o'clock morning service, as well as the 8 o'clock evening service, and each evening following through Thursday. Features of the evening talks will be object lessons for children and an answer period for adults.

Eleven congregations in the Alton circuit area will participate in a rally service Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the West Junior High School in that city, with a children's mass chorus and an adult mass chorus furnishing the music.

The Rev. Zimmerman is a former missionary to China and from 1942-1955 was an instructor in the Mission School Graduate Department of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis. He served as vacancy pastor in the local church some months prior to the arrival of the local pastor, Rev. R. F. Peckman.

In a recent total point team of four match, South became declarer at five spades doubled at each table.

One South was lucky enough to play against a low heart opening and was able to hold his loss to one trick. At the other table West decided that a trump opening was in order and opened the four of spades.

South won in his own hand and played the queen of clubs whereupon West grabbed his ace and played the ace and five of spades. Now South had to go down two tricks so that the trump lead was worth 200 extra points to the defense.

I do not think much of either five-spade bid. The two Norths could not expect their partners to make five spades and I see little or no point in taking a sure loss merely because you are afraid that your opponents can make game.

North was looking at the ace-king and nine of diamonds. Surely there were two tricks for him in that suit. Was it too much to hope to find another trick somewhere? Actually it was right there in the diamond suit.

 What do you do?

A—Pass. You did not think much of your partner's three-spade bid to start with and you certainly are not going to hurt four clubs. Why risk giving your opponents a game?

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered except that East has gone to four hearts after his partner's four-club bid. What do you do now?

A SKIN OF GLASS—We'll hang a skin of glass around the entire building. So says A. William Hajjar, professor of architecture at Pennsylvania State University. His idea, "air-wall construction," is shown in sketch above. With air-wall any building, large or small, could be completely enclosed in glass to control its climate. Air circulated in the space between the walls would move sun-warmed air to the cool sides and cool air to the sunny sides. When the sun is not strong enough, radiant heat would come from a plastic curtain with an electric circuit imprinted in its fabric.

A RARE PLANE

THERE'S an airplane firm in London that hasn't heard about modern-day production-line methods. The company turns out all-wood planes made entirely by hand. The flying flivver is called a Druine D-31 Turbulent plane, named after its late designer, Roger Druine. In a crowded hangar at Croydon airport, outside London, skilled workmen build the craft with hand tools, except for a small bandsaw. The plane is 17½-feet long, with a wingspan of less than 22 feet. Powered by a German four-cylinder engine, the single-seater has a top speed of 88 miles an hour. Its price is about $2,800.

With the fuselage in the background, he works on the wing. No metal is used.

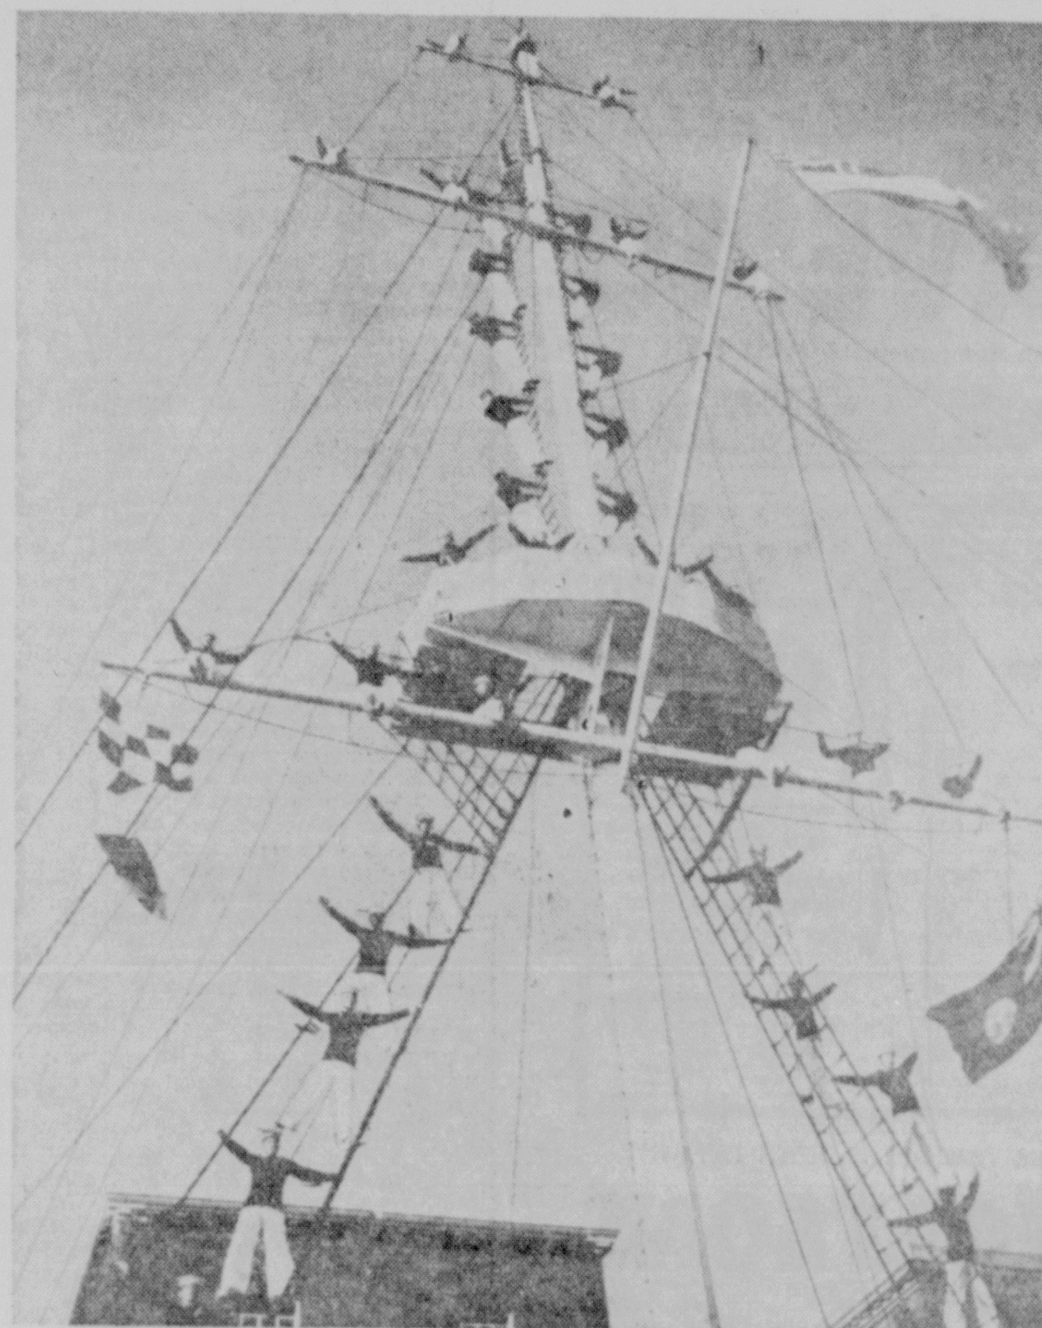

The finished product has a sporty look. It takes 10 to 12 weeks to build the plane.

DOWN A TRADITIONAL ROAD — These children of the Amish sect start the long walk home from school in Bird-In-Hand, Pa. Clad in their homemade clothing, the youngsters are prohibited by their beliefs from riding school bus.

NO CAT NIPS FOR HIM—Sue Styron's pet cat would seem to be in a spot most cats would give their nine lives for, but he's having none of the 51-pound channel bass hanging from a rack in Hatteras, N.C. It's among first of the season.

YOUNG SALTS SHOW LOTS OF PEPPER—Only boys, these cadets show the skill of old timers as they man the mast at the naval training center in Gosport, England. They're polishing their display for a military ceremony.

FUTURE PHOTOGRAPHERS OR JUDGES?—While a photographer "shoots" a few bathing beauties in Maximo Moorings, Fla., some youngsters get a closeup view. Perhaps there's a future beauty contest judge in audience.

WAITING TO SPRING INTO ACTION—All spruced up after their winter layoff, these rowboats in New York's Central park lake are ready and waiting for customers—a sure sign that spring is really here to stay awhile.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices in the butcher hog market shifted rather sharply over a broad range this week with a good gain on Tuesday being canceled on Thursday by the heaviest supply in more than a month.

Although offerings at Chicago and the 12 major markets were among the largest in several weeks, prices for all barrows and gilts here were steady to 25 cents higher for the week and hogs were 25 to 50 cents higher.

On Monday, however, the top price dropped to $16.65 and the average cost of barrows and gilts to $16.65, both the lowest since March 23.

With cattle supplies somewhat less than expected and Wednesday's run the smallest of the year for midweek, steers and heifers climbed to their highest prices since last April while cows matched or nearly matched their highest prices since 1952.

A few loads of steers sold up to $37.00 and one load of heifers brought a $32.00 top for the week which also equaled the previous top paid in 1952.

TEMPTING GRAIN CONTRACTS ATTRACT VERY FEW TAKERS

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market opened up a wide variety of tempting contracts for profit cashers this week but it attracted relatively few takers. The pickings were mighty lush, too, in a few contracts such as new crop rye months but they finished the week still climbing rapidly. Since last Monday, they had gained from slightly less than 5 cents a bushel on the July delivery to 6 1/2 cents on the December.

There were only two losers in the list and three gamblers of less than a cent. May wheat and rye were under fairly steady selling pressure on most days but they held good profit margins.

However, one significant bearish factor in May wheat trading was the decision by the Commodity Credit Corp. to offer for export stocks of wheat defaulted on loans through the price support program.

At the end of the week, wheat futures were 1 1/4 cents a bushel lower on May to 2 1/4 cents higher on new crop months. May $2.09 1/2-10, corn unchanged to 2 1/4 higher, May $1.25 1/2-10, oats 1 1/2-2 1/4 higher, May 69 cents; rye 3/4 lower to 6 1/2 cents higher, May $1.42 1/2-42, and soybeans 1/4-1 1/2 higher, May $2.26 1/2-12.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market this week apparently paid heed to a raft of warnings against careless speculation. It declined in sluggish trading.

Probably never in history was a bull market so thoroughly scolded.

This week Keith Fuston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, warned against speculative heedlessness. The exchange also launched a $250,000 advertising campaign cautioning the public to invest only on a sound basis. The Securities and Exchange Commission issued a warning against market manipulation and said it was investigating a "substantial number" of cases which may result in criminal prosecution.

Small wonder that The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.50 this week to $222.40. Volume on the Big Board eased to 15,642,380 shares compared with 15,622,380 the week before. Both totals were the lowest since the week ended Feb. 14 when 14,792,690 shares were traded.

Business and economic news remained encouraging. The first trickle of corporate reports for the opening quarter of 1959 made good reading. Aside from the many warnings, however, stock traders and investors were restrained by other factors.

Selling to meet federal income tax payments due April 15 was a factor which depressed the market. Another was hesitation regarding what the Federal Reserve Board will do in regard to restricting margin accounts.

The corporate and U.S. Government bond markets declined this week. Among the corporates, industrials were off sharply while investment quality issues and utilities eased to new lows for the year on the AP bond index. Rails and foreign bonds edged slightly ahead.

Volume for the week amounted to $31,224,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange, down slightly from $31,981,000 the previous week but up from $25,729,400 for the corresponding week in 1958.

Red Cross To Continue Home Visitation Plan

The Red Cross Blood Program Citizens Committee met at the Morgan County Red Cross office on Friday, April 10. The meeting was called by the chairman, Mrs. P. J. Davidmeyer, to evaluate the last visit of the Bloodmobile and to make plans for the next visit on June 4 and 5. The visiting of homes will continue in Jacksonville until all persons are contacted. The visits are to educate the citizens of the "Blood Program" as well as to secure donors.

Mrs. Carroll Houston, executive secretary of the Morgan County Red Cross Chapter, announced a sectional conference to be held in Pittsfield April 24 at the Pike County Red Cross Chapter house. The meeting will be from 12 noon until 4 p.m. Everyone interested is welcome. It is hoped that a large crowd from this area attends this Red Cross co-ordination meeting.

A committee was appointed by the chairman to evaluate the constructive criticism, comments and information received from the citizens by the visitors, Mrs. Alvin Prather and Mrs. Harry Meriman were named to compile this information.

Only one ward has been reported completed. Mrs. Alvin Prather reported all visited in the First Ward and 55 donors signed for the April and June Bloodmobile visits.

Mrs. Neil Wandell, Mrs. Russell Ezard, Harold McCarr, Robert Spink and Mrs. Robert Kaiser reported the work of the visitors is progressing and work will continue until completed. Mrs. James Dueser is setting up Ward 4 for the June visit of the Bloodmobile. Mrs. Glenn Kendall reports Ward 7 about completed and donors are pledging for the June and August Bloodmobile visits.

The committee is very aware that without the splendid cooperation of the radio station WLDS and the Jacksonville Journal-Courier Co. and the special assistance they have given, the work of the Red Cross Blood program committees would be virtually impossible.

Mrs. Harry Hoffmann, Jr., secretary of this committee, read the minutes of the last meeting held in February. A final report of the results of the visits to the citizens will be published when completed. It is hoped that many of the misunderstandings of the "Blood Program" of the Red Cross will be better understood from these visits. Compiling the information gathered from these visits will enlighten the committee and assist in the knowledge needed to better continue the blood program. This information will be passed on to the citizens as learned.

Kidney Operation On Youth Is Making Medical History

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Eighty-one days ago, handsome young John Riteris lay dying.

Now he's alive, healthy, and making history.

His reprieve—when he had given up hope—was an exciting, dramatic new triumph in giving people borrowed human spare parts.

John has a new kidney, borrowed from his brother Andrew.

But it is the first time that a kidney has worked normally when borrowed from anyone except your identical twin.

A near-deadly bath of X-rays apparently turned the trick for the crew-cut youngster with blue eyes and a wide grin.

For John Riteris, at age 23, it has repeated nature's law that you cannot get a new kidney, heart, or glands except from an identical twin.

John's brother is a fraternal twin, not an identical, look-alike twin. Different in vital ways.

To wit: through John took the X-rays and got the loan of the kidney. Later, sick and feverish, only perhaps two weeks to live.

I.C. Opens Card With 11-9 Win Over Culver

CANTON, Mo.—Illinois College squelched a ninth inning rally here Friday afternoon to claim a four-hour victory over Culver-Stockton in their opening game, 11-9.

With two outs in the ninth, the Wildcats rallied on successive singles and an error to pull within two runs of the lead. With the tying run on first and the count 3-2 on Culver's Ray Chick, relief pitcher Neal Hart retired the batter on a pop-up to retire the side.

Trailing 5-2 going into the fifth, the Blueboys tagged starter Tom Berta for six hits and eight runs to break the game wide open. Sophomore Ken Stone received credit for the victory in a six-inning stint. Stone displayed good control in yielding only two walks and scattering 11 hits. Hart came in on relief and gave up only two walks and two hits the rest of the way.

Coach Joe Brooks was well pleased with the pitching and the 13-hit attack but nine errors gave him cause for concern. He believed the cold weather had something to do with the nine throwing errors. I.C. left 13 men stranded on the base paths.

The only extra base hit of the game was a triple by Johnson of Culver.

Rain Washes Out Zaharias Open

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Rain Saturday washed out the second round of the $8,000 Babe Zaharias Open and the field of 25 women professional golfers scheduled 36 holes Sunday.

The Zaharias is the first tournament of the summer tour of the Ladies PGA.

Louise Suggs, the veteran from Sea Island, Ga., defied soggy greens to post a 4-under-par 69 Friday for a 2-stroke lead. Betty Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., and Wanda Sanchez, Baton Rouge, La., deadlocked in second place with 71s.

When Alexander Hamilton became first secretary of the treasury the U. S. national debt stood at $4 million dollars.

Braves Nudge Pittsburgh, 4-3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Veteran right-hander Lew Burdette, backed up by three home runs and outfielder Wes Covington's clutch throw in the ninth, Saturday propelled the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Burdette, a 20-game winner last season, stifled one budding Pirate rally in the seventh and got a heaping assist from Covington in the ninth as he started his quest for another big year. He gave up 12 hits but walked only one.

In the ninth, the tying run was on third with one out when Covington grabbed Bob Skinner's fly in short left. Covington's bullet peg Puck, 1b, nipped pinch-runner Roman Meli as at the plate, ending the game. The Pirates had threatened as 1 Smoky Burgess singled, Bill Virdon sacrificed and Bob Clemente got a broken bat single, moving H. Melias—running for Burgess—to third.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, who has won only one tournament since becoming National PGA champion last summer, shook up the Greensboro Open golf field Saturday with a 65 that gave him a 34-hole total of 201 and a 4-stroke lead.

The 29-year-old Athens, Ohio, native who plays out of Tequesta, Fla., was 6 under par Saturday with a 33-32 performance. It carried him into a commanding lead going into Sunday's final round of the $15,000 tournament.

Mike Fetichuk of Yonkers, N.Y., the leader through the first two rounds, slid a stroke over par with a 72 to drop into second place with 205.

Robinson, a 28-year-old right-hander, had a 2-4 record with the Braves last season.

The 40-year-old Vernon, who also has played at Washington and Boston, was in his 19th season in the American League. He batted .293 last season in 119 games.

Taylor Supplies Punch In Cubs' 6-1 Victory Over Los Angeles

CHICAGO (AP)—Catcher Sam Taylor slammed across 4 runs, 3 on a bases-loaded double, to wheel the Chicago Cubs to a 6-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in a tardy National League opener before 12,238 Saturday.

Chicago's 23-year-old Bobby Anderson hurled impressively to capture the Wrigley Field inaugural, delayed one day by Friday's snow and cold weather. He was backed by four double plays.

Two rookies also played an important role in the Cub triumph. Third baseman Earl Averill and center fielder George Altman collaborated, on the second hit for each, to launch Chicago's decisive four-run fifth inning.

Drysdale quit for a pinch-hitter after yielding 6 runs and 8 hits in 5 innings.

Cub shortstop Ernie Banks, the National League's Most Valuable Player last year, contributed 9 assists and participated in 3 double plays to back Anderson's pitching.

Cleveland Trips Kansas City, 3-2

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cleveland squeezed out a 3-2 victory over luckless Kansas City Saturday on the strength of an 11-hit attack and the second straight rescue effort by reliever Dick Brodowski.

The victory went to southpaw Don Ferrarese who allowed only four hits. He was jerked in the eighth after giving up his second home run of the game and walking the next batter.

Brodowski walked one man, hit another to load the bases but kept the A's from scoring. He came back in the ninth to set Kansas City down in order and clinch the decision.

The A's only scores were home runs by Hector Lopez, his second of the season, and Bill Tuttle.

The loss was pinned on Ned Garver who gave up 10 of the 11 hits and was replaced in the eighth by Tom Gorman. Dick Tomaneck pitched the ninth inning.

George Strickland continued to swing a big bat, getting 2 doubles in 4 trips and raising his batting average to .625.

Indiana High Principals Okay IHSAA Ruling

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—The ineligibility ruling against two basketball players who moved from Jopla, Ill., to Seymour, Ind., was approved by Indiana high school principals today.

A resolution, adopted unanimously at the annual meeting of the Indiana Junior-Senior High School Principals Assn., said the Indiana High School Athletic Assn. is "accepted as the governing agency" of school sports.

The IHSAA banned Billy Joe and Frank Stevenson permanently from sports at Seymour Oct. 4 on grounds that undue influence was used to get their family to move from Jopla.

Technically, the boys have been eligible since Jan. 27 under a restraining order issued by Circuit Judge John M. Lewis in Brownstown, but the school didn't use them in basketball competition.

The case still is pending, though it was moved on a chance of venue to the court of Circuit Judge Chester A. Davis in Bedford. A hearing has been set for May 21.

The principals' resolution raised the high standards maintained by the IHSAA in its 56 years and urged schools to refuse to compete against any schools which ignores an IHSAA ineligibility order.

The resolution was submitted by a committee headed by Principal Claude Miller of Jasper.

The court test, which is being opposed by the IHSAA, was started by the Negro boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stevenson. They have had help from Negro lawyers working with the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, although the NAACP has not entered the case officially.

Lake Charles Lead To Royer

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Young Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., neutralized a cold wind and driving rain Saturday with a steaming 3-under-par 69 and took the third round lead in the $5,000 Lake Charles Invitational Golf Tournament.

The 22-year-old former University of Georgia star, making his debut as a professional, followed earlier rounds of 68 and 69 with Saturday's performance for a total of 206.

Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., former Western Amateur titleholder and 1957 Walker Cup team member, also came in with a 69 and trailed Royer by only one stroke at 207.

Veteran Dick Metz of Fort Worth, Tex., stumbled to a 74 and fell to fifth place at 211.

Wynn, a 29-year-old right-hander who began his baseball career back in 1937, leads all active major league pitchers in victories and ranks 22nd among baseball's all-time winners.

The knuckleballing veteran came up to the big league late in the 1941 season and won 72 games with Washington and 163 with Cleveland before he was traded to Chicago after the 1957 season. His 14 victories last season left him one short of the coveted 250-mark.

Wynn managed to work his way out of several trouble spots and hung on for the Sox' second victory in two days over the Tigers. Lollar cracked two home runs and Aparicio, Chicago's 150-pound shortstop, hit a tie-breaking blast in the seventh inning.

MacMurray Divides Pair With Carthage

Sam Jones Hurls Giants To 5-2 Win Over Cards

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The San Francisco Giants Saturday night collected their first division win from the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 with a solid eight-hitter.

The 34-year-old right-hander was in trouble against his former teammates only when his defense failed him. Sam struck out seven with his dazzling curves and quick fast ball. The Giants made three errors.

White, 25-year-old first baseman obtained in the four-player trade, was 0-for-4 for the Cards and walked once. The Red Birds left 11 men stranded.

The Giants made it two straight in the three-game set.

Big Orlando Cepeda belted in four runs with a pair of two-run doubles off two Cardinal rookie right-handers, starter Ernie Broglio and Howard Nixon.

One of the two Red Birds hit to the outfield was Stan Musial's two-run eighth-inning single after a pair of errors, and an infield single by Gino Cimoli.

Broglio was forced to quit after six innings trailing 3-0 because of a leg bruise he suffered in tagging Bob Schmidt for the last out of the sixth.

Charge Honduran Soldiers Looted American's Yacht

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A yacht captain reported Saturday that soldiers from Honduras looted the ship and held him for 15 hours on Feb. 18.

Capt. Hugo Johnson, 48, Miami, Fla., reported the incident by letter to W. Gordon Wing, Houston, owner of the 82-foot yacht, the Explorer.

Johnson said the yacht was boarded from a shrimp boat off Trujillo, Honduras, while the Explorer was on a trip from Miami to Puntarenas, Costa Rica, where Wing has cotton and sugar interests.

"As far as I can understand we were under suspicion of gun smuggling," Johnson wrote in a letter dated April 6. "I had a hard time to control myself but there isn't much one can do when there is a gun in your back."

Johnson said the ship's galley was full of soldiers and lieutenants helping themselves.

Johnson said the Explorer was boarded by the soldiers at 1:15 a.m. at the mouth of the Bay of Trujillo, where the ship had sought shelter the previous morning. He said the shrimp boat used by the soldiers had hailed them the day before without incident.

Wing said he is conferring with an attorney on filing a complaint with government officials in Honduras.

Someone Takes Shot At Virginia's Gov. Almond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A pistol shot was fired at Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. Friday afternoon as he walked the 100 yards from the executive mansion to the State Capitol, police said Saturday.

Authorities said that was the only plausible explanation for a gunshot heard by the governor, two policemen and three painters and for a boxwood tree freshly broken by a bullet.

The incident prompted the Capitol police to tighten security measures in and around the mansion occupied by Almond, a victim of recent threats as a result of the school segregation issue.

Almond told the Richmond Times-Dispatch Saturday night the investigation convinced him "somebody was taking a potshot at me. There's no doubt about it. I knew it at the time."

The governor added: "It was definitely a light-caliber gun, probably a pistol, because I don't think a man would carry a rifle on the street. I turned around and I heard the report, but I couldn't see anybody over there."

The painters got excited and a convict working on the lawn jumped behind a tree. I thought of stepping behind the tree, but when I saw the convict there, I got tickled.

"I figured his life was as good as mine and I wouldn't shoot him. There was nothing else to do but walk out to the office."

Police and aides to the governor said they did not know whether the shot had any connection with the recent threats. Anonymous writers and callers have accused Almond of "selling out" in the segregation issue.

Both Almond and Lt. Gov. A. E. S. Stephens have taken a moderate line on the school issue recently. While both oppose racial integration, neither has been willing to sacrifice the public school system, and both have pointed to the futility of defying federal court orders.

Two W. Virginia Women Missing; Fear Foul Play

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Two missing Clarksburg matrons who disappeared mysteriously last Wednesday night may have gotten within 24 miles of their hometown.

A filling station attendant at Weston, 24 miles south of this northern West Virginia town, reported Saturday that two women in a car resembling the description of one in which they were riding bought 9.45 worth of gasoline from him between 11 p. m. and midnight Wednesday.

State Police Sgt. W. L. Pike said the attendant gave a description of his customers that generally fitted the missing women, Mrs. Juanita Ferguson, 50, and Mrs. Virginia Conley, 54.

Previously, 9:45 p.m. Wednesday was the latest hour at which the whereabouts of Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Conley was believed known. Then they left a restaurant near Sutton, 70 miles south of here, after a 50-minute stop. They were driving back to Clarksburg in Mrs. Ferguson's car after attending a garden club meeting in Beckley.

State Police Supt. Hazen Fair said there was a remote possibility the two women met the same fate that befell the four members of the Jackson family of Apple Grove, Louisa County, Va. It is between 250 and 250 miles from where the women were last seen to the general area of the Carroll V. Jackson Jr. his wife, and their two daughters were abducted the night of Jan. 11 while driving homeward after visiting Mrs. Jackson's parents.

George Jackson's body, with a bullet in his head, and that of his infant daughter were found March 1 near an old sawmill close to Frederickburg, Va., 80 miles northeast of Apple Grove. The 15-month-old daughter died of suffocation and exposure after the killer had dumped the father's body on her.

On March 21, the bodies of Mrs. Jackson, 21, and Susan, 5, were found in a shallow grave on a dead end lane at Gambrell, Md., 15 miles south of Baltimore. The killer is still at large.

RICKOVER, 7 SOLONS CRUISE IN SKIPJACK

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover, father of the nuclear submarine, and seven congressmen went aboard the nuclear submarine Skipjack Saturday for an overnight cruise.

The congressmen—members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy—requested the trip.

Two W. Virginia Women Missing; Fear Foul Play

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Two missing Clarksburg matrons who disappeared mysteriously last Wednesday night may have gotten within 24 miles of their hometown.

A filling station attendant at Weston, 24 miles south of this northern West Virginia town, reported Saturday that two women in a car resembling the description of one in which they were riding bought 9.45 worth of gasoline from him between 11 p. m. and midnight Wednesday.

State Police Sgt. W. L. Pike said the attendant gave a description of his customers that generally fitted the missing women, Mrs. Juanita Ferguson, 50, and Mrs. Virginia Conley, 54.

Previously, 9:45 p.m. Wednesday was the latest hour at which the whereabouts of Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Conley was believed known. Then they left a restaurant near Sutton, 70 miles south of here, after a 50-minute stop. They were driving back to Clarksburg in Mrs. Ferguson's car after attending a garden club meeting in Beckley.

State Police Supt. Hazen Fair said there was a remote possibility the two women met the same fate that befell the four members of the Jackson family of Apple Grove, Louisa County, Va. It is between 250 and 250 miles from where the women were last seen to the general area of the Carroll V. Jackson Jr. his wife, and their two daughters were abducted the night of Jan. 11 while driving homeward after visiting Mrs. Jackson's parents.

George Jackson's body, with a bullet in his head, and that of his infant daughter were found March 1 near an old sawmill close to Frederickburg, Va., 80 miles northeast of Apple Grove. The 15-month-old daughter died of suffocation and exposure after the killer had dumped the father's body on her.

On March 21, the bodies of Mrs. Jackson, 21, and Susan, 5, were found in a shallow grave on a dead end lane at Gambrell, Md., 15 miles south of Baltimore. The killer is still at large.

Local Youth Injured As Cars Collide
A two car crash at the corner of West State and South Church street injured a local youth and severely damaged two cars Saturday evening at 8:05 p.m. Lonnie Rabjohns of 609 Caldwell was taken to Passavant Hospital following the collision by the Cooney ambulance. He was given emergency treatment and released.

According to reports the collision occurred as a 1956 Nash driven by Lucille A. Newbery of rural route three attempted to make a left turn into South Church street.

The Rabjohns car, a 1959 Volkswagon owned by W. C. Rabjohns was heading east on State street at the time of the collision.

Neither Mrs. Newbery nor her passenger, Mrs. M. Bosler, were injured in the accident. The Newbery car left the scene of the accident under its own power. It received damage to the right fender and right front door.

The Rabjohns auto was taken to the Lukeman Garage by the Lukeman wrecker. It was damaged in the front end, hood and windshield. City officers attended at the scene of the accident.

FIRE IN TREE STRICTLY FOR THE BIRDS

Firemen rushed to the residence of Claude Curry, 528 Hardin avenue, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and doused flames gushing from the top of a large tree.

Tree fires are not in themselves unusual in the annals of the Jacksonville department but in noisome totin' jargon, "for every flame there must be a cause."

This one turned out to be strictly for the birds—a dead limb was blazing when firemen arrived. The flames were extinguished in short order with a booster line but firemen milled about looking for some clue to the cause.

No wires within ten feet—no visible trash fires in the vicinity—no other branches even close and the fire was in the top of the tree.

Firemen mused that the flames were created by birds to keep warm and returned to the fire house to await their next alarm.

Other Calls
An overloaded washer at the North Main Coin Wash caused an alarm at 9:55 a.m. Saturday. When firemen arrived they pulled the plug on the washer and the flames subsided.

At 2:20 p.m. a grass fire was reported at the Mike Furlong residence, 909 West Chambers. No damage was reported.

Midwest Feeders Hold Annual Meeting Here
John H. Litzelman of Vermilion, S. D., national president of the Corn Belt Feeders association, was the principal speaker last night when the Illinois Mid-West Livestock Feeders association met at the Masonic Temple.

During the afternoon session marketing specialists from the National Stock Yards of E. St. Louis and the Union Stock Yards of Chicago spoke on marketing problems. The afternoon crowd was rather thin, since it was a good day for most of the members to do field work.

About 200 persons from all sections of the state attended the banquet. This was a little less than the number of reservations sent in earlier, due, again, to the favorable weather.

Litzelman emphasized the position of the association: no government aid or regulations desired. He stressed the importance of free enterprise and individualism, "the freedom to do our own planning, with its rewards or penalties."

He also urged livestock feeders to knit themselves closely with the organization "so we may present a solid front against those who say they desire to help us. Grain farmers are now bound hand and foot to the politician, and the latter is striving his very best to get us under his domination. We must ward off this trend, if we are able, and we can do it best by banding together."

The Morgan County Four—Harold Kamm, Alvin Middendorf, Alvin Lovkamp and Ed Gordon—sang during the banquet hour.

L. A. Reed of Jacksonville, president of the Mid-West association, and George R. Thayer, also of Jacksonville, secretary, were in charge of the day's events.

U.I. Economist Says State Suffers, Just Too Many Counties

Merging Illinois' 102 counties into 24 efficient units 10 years ago probably could have reduced tax budgets for some county functions by about 40 percent, according to C. L. Stewart, University of Illinois land economist.

Stewart lists large budgets for local government units and the difficulty of finding substitute tax sources as the major reasons why high farm land taxes have not been reduced.

He readily recognizes the great resistance that would be encountered in even partial merging of county government units. Who would consent, within 10 years from now, to seeing any major county function, such as policing or recording, performed in only a fifth as many places in the state? He asks.

Held Off For Years
Stewart points out that school consolidation was strongly resisted for years. But it came swiftly when once started. County consolidation might soon be just as practical, he believes.

"Cuts in real estate taxes on farms and other property must start with two long-term and one immediate change," Stewart says. "The nearest to home of all of them is the dropping of townships as governmental units. It would not be surprising to see a five per cent decrease in the real estate tax load in rural areas from this change."

Next closest is the consolidation of county functions across county lines. Even though substitution of large counties for groups of smaller ones may be put off for a decade, much can be done now to make intercounty economies in the purchase of materials, supplies and equipment and in other ways.

In Other States
Missouri's 1945 constitutional revision provides that contiguous counties, not exceeding 10 in number, may, by popular vote in each county, join in performing any common function or service or in employing any county officer or employee common to the counties. In Georgia contracts up to 50 years' duration may be made in the pursuit of such functional consolidation.

Illinois landowners paid a tax of $1.28 per $100 current value of farm real estate last year, Stewart points out. Even if this amount had been cut to $1.00, it would still have been higher than in 30 other states.

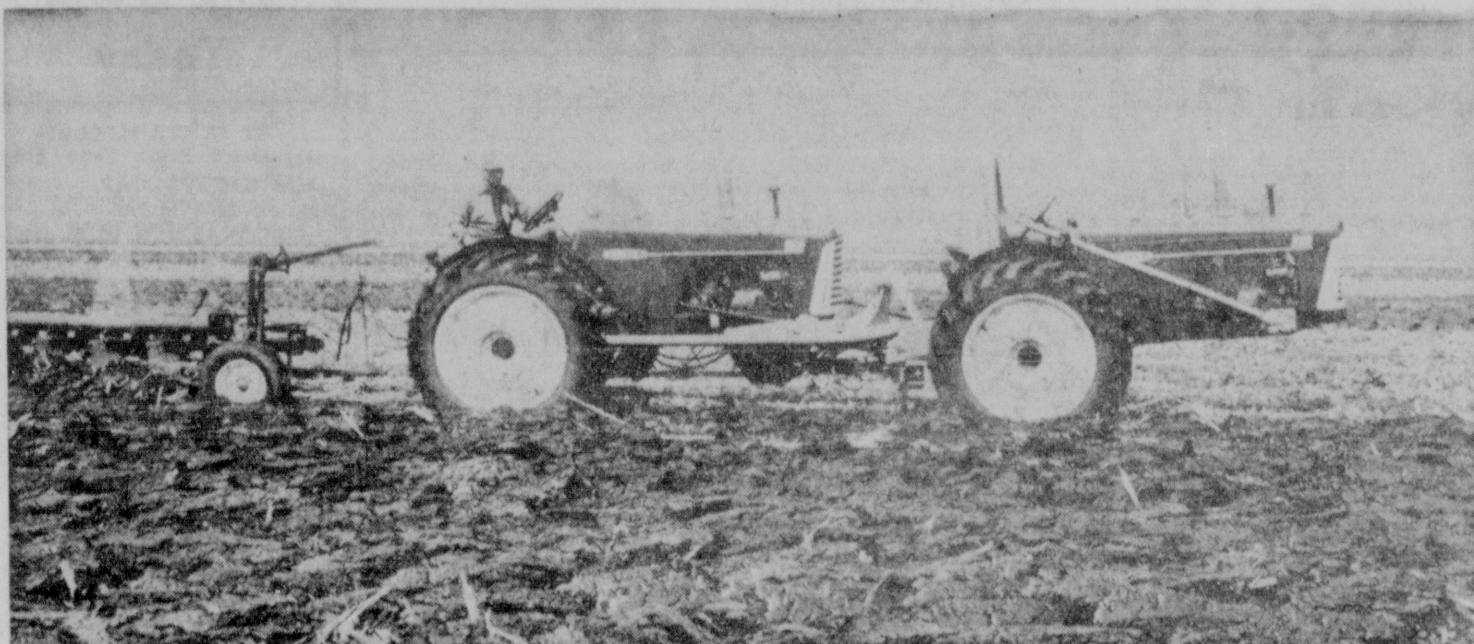

More Federal Aid?
In Illinois 77.7 per cent of the total revenue receipts for public elementary and secondary schools come from local taxes. 20.7 per cent from state and only 1.6 per cent from federal sources. It therefore seems that, even though Illinois pays more into the federal treasury than she gets out of it in any system of grants among the states, it may be better to accept federal school support than to let the prospects for higher real estate taxes continue unabated, Stewart reasons.

Some people feel that continued land price advances have been justifiable reasons for keeping real estate taxes high. Much of the upward pressure on land prices has come from farmers' feeling the need to enlarge farms, Stewart points out. For many owners the federal capital-gains tax also discourages selling land. This reduces the number of farms offered for sale. On the other hand, many buyers have bid up land prices in seeking to acquire property as a hedge against inflation.

Soil mulches act as a sponge, soaking up moisture and rainfall thereby insuring an even moisture supply during the growing season. Soil mulches also discourage weed growth.

A wet mash often encourages sick chickens to begin eating again.

Two Tractors Are Better Than Two Tractors!

Tandem Hitch Increases Efficiency

Farm tractors are like many people: too heavy for light work and too light for heavy work.

A heavy tractor is the ticket for plowing, discing, terracing and earth moving. Lighter tractors are better for seeding, cultivating, hauling and chore work around the farm.

For quite a few years now some farmers, with inventor's blood in their veins, have been working on the idea of making one big tractor out of two little ones. Some tandem hitches are now on the market, but they generally involve taking the front wheels off the front end of the second tractor and hooking it to the rear of the leading tractor. The operator drives the front tractor.

Why Front Wheels
Last Thanksgiving day Rex Hallock of Bishop Springs farm north of Hillview was plowing. He was using two tractors, driving the front one. The idea came to him. "Why not do away with both sets of front wheels?"

He conferred with his nephew, Russell Hallock, who farms on Route 36 west of Winchester. The nephew is a skilled welder and likes to build things of iron and steel.

The idea also intrigued him and the two men spent many hours last winter mulling over the idea and building and testing models. They were helped by Russell Owens of Florence.

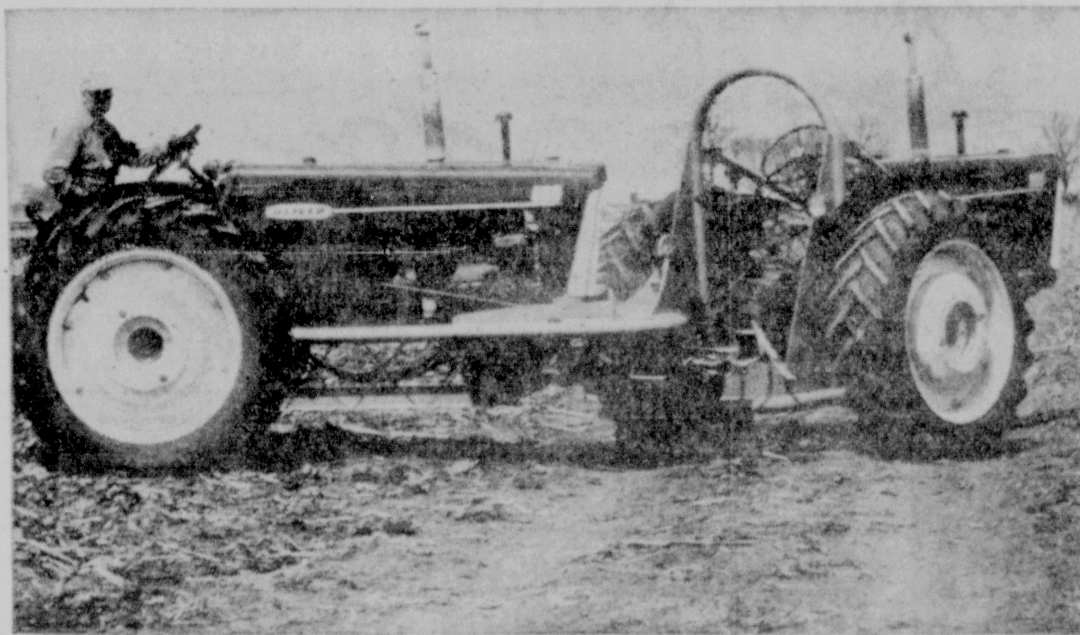

The new and novel hitch has been patented as "The Super-Power Tandem Hitch" and it will be built by Tandem Steel Products of White Hall. One major farm implement company has shown considerable interest in the device and they may begin the manufacture and distribution of the hitches.

More Utility
Quite a few farmers who have large acreages find it practical and economical to buy a large tractor to be used only for plowing and discing. But these machines are very expensive and can be used only a few days each year. Two smaller tractors cost less than a big one. They can be hitched together to do heavy work, and then uncoupled to plant, cultivate, haul, chore, etc.

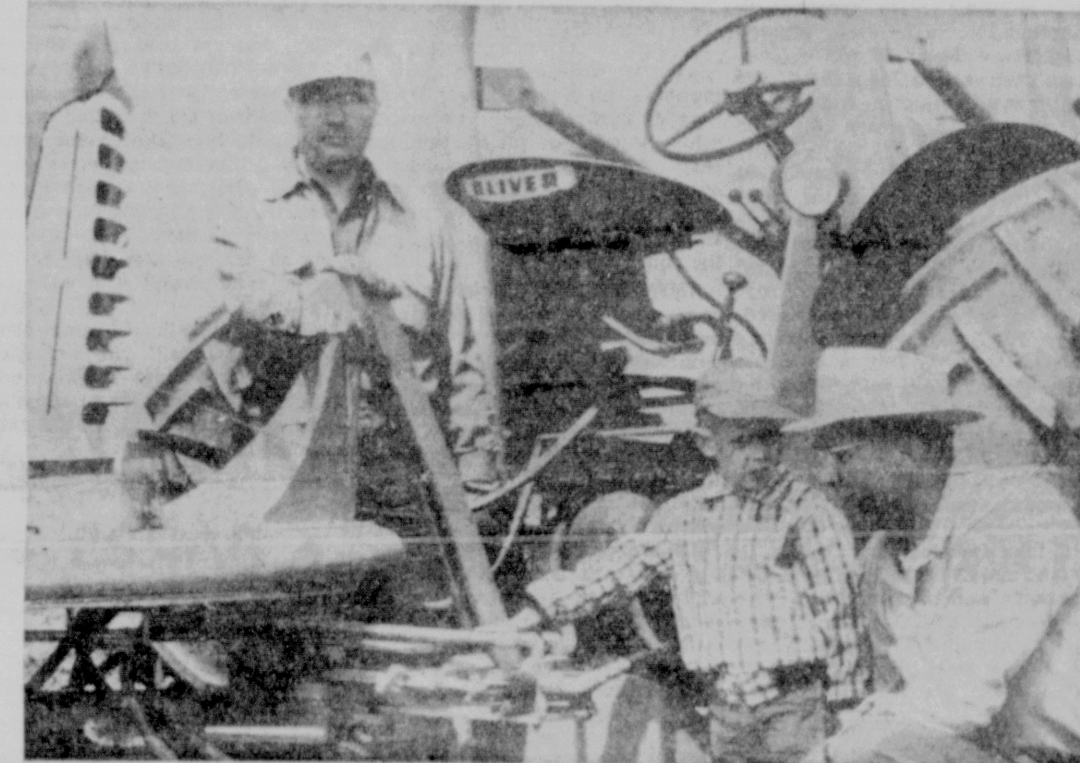

In tests at the University of Iowa last year a Model 8N Ford was coupled ahead of a Model 860 Ford. With the 8N operating in third gear it had a drawbar pull of 1180 pounds. The 860, operating in second gear, had a drawbar pull of 1380 pounds. The sum of the tractors pulling separately

THE HEADLINE may sound like something out of the writings of Gertrude Stein but testing of tandem-hitched tractors by both the University of Michigan and the University of Iowa show they have 20-35% more drawbar pull than the sum of the rating of each tractor. All four wheels are drivers, weight distribution is better and the power needed to push the front wheels is saved.

This outfit is shown as it was handled by Russell Hallock of Winchester during a field demonstration held at the Rex Hallock farm north of Hillview Tuesday.

HYDRAULIC THRUSTS housed under the front end of the trailing tractor pivot the front tractor. Turning is as easy as with a conventional tractor and steering down the plow furrow is much, much easier. Once the outfit is headed down the furrow, it's strictly a "no hands" operation.

THE KEY ELEMENTS of the tandem hitch are shown here. Russell Hallock has his hand perched on the kingbolt, which has 5% caster. The hydraulic lines near his left arm led to the clutch control of the front tractor. In the foreground young Alan Hallock shows the hydraulic cylinders which steer the front tractor to his father, Rex.

was 2560 pounds. Yet, when they were hitched in tandem they had a drawbar pull of 3450 pounds, or a 28% increase.

Tests at both Michigan and Iowa show that any two tractors can be coupled. Maximum efficiency is gained when the front tractor is run in third gear and the rear tractor in second.

A Powerful Unit
Both of the 880 Olivars shown here were operating in third gear at the time. They were traveling about four and a half miles per hour, and pulling a 6-14" plow 10 inches deep through the heavy gumbo soil of the Illinois river bottomland. Everybody that saw it in operation was of the opinion that it could easily handle an eight bottom plow.

After the plowing is done the unit will be used to pull three 16-foot discs.

What are its disadvantages?

Some farmers who saw it declared they were afraid that the four big driving wheels were harmful to the soil, packing it pretty badly. They said they wanted to take another look at it at discing time.

Another drawback is the time it takes to hitch the two tractors. Russell Hallock and Owens admit it is pretty much of a chore, but they feel that two average farmers, who are rather handy with tools, could do the job in half a day.

Then, the hitch is rather expensive. It hasn't been priced yet, but Rex Hallock figures it will be between $1,500 and $2,000.

THOSE BLACK GNATS WON'T HURT WHEAT

URBANA—Farmers in central, western and southern Illinois are reporting large numbers of small black, gnat-like insects in their wheat fields.

These insects should not be confused with the Hessian fly, H. B. Petty, extension entomologist with the University of Illinois and the Illinois Natural History Survey, say that they are fungus gnats, which can fly as well as leap. They feed on molds and other fungi and are usually found in damp places where there is an abundance of decaying organic matter.

Petty adds that these insects are most abundant in wheat fields where old soybean stubble and trash are decaying. But they do not harm the wheat, and consequently there is no need to apply control measures.

Illinois residents are paying three times as much for administrative costs in the assessment and collection of personal property taxes as for real estate taxes, according to a University of Illinois agricultural law professor.

Sees Likelihood Of Hog Cholera Epidemic

Livestock authorities are seriously concerned this spring about the possibility of a new wave of hog cholera sweeping the nation's farms.

In certain areas, some farmers have let down their guard by permitting pigs to go unvaccinated against the disease, according to the American Foundation for Animal Health. This may set the stage for fresh outbreaks as the season for heavy cholera losses arrives, says the Foundation. For this reason, organizations across the nation have been asked to make cholera prevention a special April goal during National Livestock Loss Prevention Year.

The disease now costs farmers an estimated $50,000,000 annually. The only safety against cholera lies in protective vaccination before an outbreak starts. There are different types of immunizing agents. Foundation authorities say that determination of which to use depends on the condition of the pigs, their age, local circumstances and other factors, and is best left up to the veterinarian to decide.

The virus of hog cholera is the most virulent known to veterinary science. A drop the size of a pin head could start an outbreak, authorities say.

Windbreaks planted this spring will take from 5 to 10 years to give protection from icy winds and blowing snow. But some Illinois windbreaks planted as far back as 1870 are still giving good weather protection.

"The Best I've Ever Fed"

EDWARD FORD, Trezevant, Tenn. Says: "Dixie Baby Pig Creep is the best feed for baby pigs I have ever fed and the same goes for Pig Creep. I think a farmer that is short of home-grown feed as I was in '58 will never regret buying Dixie's 15% Hog Grower and Dixie's 12% Hog Finisher, instead of buying corn and supplement."

"2.3 lbs. of Dixie per pound of gain"

GLEN S. KINDER, Oakridge, Mo. Says: "My feed conversion on the Dixie Program was only 2.3 lbs. of Dixie per pound of gain. I have switched away from Dixie Chick Starter twice now, but I continually find that Dixie does the best job of all. So I switch back to Dixie."

"98% Livability"

GRIMM BROS., Pacific, Mo. Says: "We have 43 of our calves on Dixie Nursing Feed and Dixie Calf Starter and we are getting exceptionally good growth. Now let's talk about livability—we're proud of our record on Dixie. Out of our last 100 calves, we lost only two, 98% livability. They tell us the national average is only about 75%."

A Slogan In Perspective

Slogans always have played a big part in political and diplomatic argument. So it should be no surprise that currently a term like "disengagement" stands high on the debaters' best seller list.

The trouble with slogans is that they are shorthand for often complex ideas that suffer mightily when they are squeezed down.

Let's disengage in central Europe, the argument runs today, and we may markedly ease tensions between West and East. Let both sides pull back or thin out or freeze troops in a given zone, or bar the use of nuclear weapons in such a buffer strip.

On its face this has a very appealing look. If the contending great powers are glaring hard at each other across border gates and barbed wire, separate them by a "safe" distance and maybe they'll cool off a little.

In fact, however, the problem is not so simple as that.

To begin with, any nuclear ban affecting a median zone between East and West would immediately put the West at grave military disadvantage. We rely heavily upon tactical nuclear devices to offset massive Soviet superiority in ground forces.

Secondly, when it comes to 1,500-mile intermediate-range missiles with nuclear warheads, obviously a relatively narrow neutral zone is meaningless. It would be no task at all to lob the missiles over the intervening territory.

As for freezing, thinning out or pulling back ground troops, the problems are at least two:

One is that the Russians and their minions already enjoy a great edge on the ground and would only enlarge it, percentage-wise, if there were a division-for-division cutback.

For another thing, any limitation or restriction of arms, either nuclear or conventional, raises the old, painful but necessary question: How can we get the inspection required to assure adequate enforcement of any arms agreement?

This has been the sticking point through more than a dozen years of negotiation with the Soviet Union. If we could get a truly enforceable agreement, why simply disengage in a buffer zone? Why not go the whole way and have general disarmament?

Disengagement is an engaging phrase. But it is not yet clear that it is much more than that.

Time To Apply Some Brakes

In the past year some 27 states have authorized increases in automobile insurance rates, New York has just joined the pack with a whopping 18.4 per cent average boost.

Since a very substantial share of U.S. states now compel motorists to carry liability insurance if they wish to drive, the increases represent a burden which cannot be ducked.

The increases have been allowed because the companies have persuaded state authorities that they are losing money under the old, lower rates.

Agreement is pretty general on the causes that underlie this situation:

The increasing frequency of accidents in an age which sees the number of vehicles on the roads mounting steadily.

The high cost of repairing the big modern automobile, due to the nature of its construction, the price of materials, the cost of labor.

The unhappy fact that today there are more fake claims than ever.

The very high awards often made by juries in cases involving personal injury.

The responsibility for this situation is obviously spread wide. Those factors involving the growth of the country are more or less beyond control. But it should not be too much to hope that something may yet be done about the reckless, ill-trained driver, the outright fraud and the other irresponsible who are helping to load this added burden upon the American motorist.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The man behind the desk had no guns, no marshal's badge. He was dressed in sport clothes and his fast draw was limited to a ball-point pen.

This was Wyatt Earp in his off-season. From June to November, the slim, dark-clad fellow keeps peace in the streets of Dodge City. During the other seven months, he is Hugh O'Brian, one of the prime interests in the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation.

"I put 20 per cent of my earnings in it—as much as the government will allow," he remarked. "There's so much destructive publicity about kids in trouble, I thought I would take a positive approach and reward youngsters who do good things."

Among the rewards would be a trip to the Hugh O'Brian dude ranch, a raw enterprise he is scouting in his non-Wyatt months.

"Is it true, as I read recently, that you are making a half-million a year?" I inquired.

"Five hundred thousand?" he mused. "I'd say the report was conservative."

See what I mean? The half-million figure seemed large because O'Brian gets no percentage of the Wyatt Earp take. He works for a highly taxable salary, and this has long been a source of dispute with the producers.

"The TV show represents only 20 per cent of my earnings," he remarked. "The rest comes from investments and my activities the other seven months of the year. For example, I get from $3,000 to $5,000 for a personal appearance."

His investments include a construction company and the Palm Springs resort Whispering Waters, in which Dennis Weaver, Pat Conroy, Carolyn Jones and Lloyd Bridges are also involved. But it isn't all income with Hugh. One month, he is Hugh O'Brian, one of the prime interests in the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation.

"I put 20 per cent of my earnings in it—as much as the government will allow," he remarked. "There's so much destructive publicity about kids in trouble, I thought I would take a positive approach and reward youngsters who do good things."

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Burl Hays, administrative assistant to Sen. Bob Kerr (D-Okla.), phoned Bowie Race Track to make club-house reservations for some of the senator's out-of-town friends. He was dismayed to learn that no reservations were available.

After Hays anxiously explained how important the senator considered this request, the reservations clerk switched the call to another track official. Again Hays' request was met with a firm "No."

"By the way," the woman asked, "what did you say the senator's name is?"

"It's Kerr," Hays said. "He's the brother of Travis Kerr, the guy who owns the race horse Round Table."

"Well, why didn't you say so?" the woman replied. "Tell the senator to send his friends out and we'll take care of them."

ALTHOUGH Netherlands Foreign Minister J. M. H. Luns served sumptuous salmon and breast of pheasant at a dinner for NATO diplomats at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel, guests liked the hors d'oeuvres and soup best. The hors d'oeuvres were barquets, which are little pastries stuffed with lobster or sweetbreads, covered with white cream sauce and served hot. The soup was consommé queue de boeuf. This is French for oxtail.

Best thing about the soup was that it was loaded with sherry and cognac. After tasting it, one diplomat confided, "The main thing wrong with protocol is that it doesn't permit asking for second helpings."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What do you, the man in the street, have to look forward to on a question which may mean your life: This country's ability to handle itself in case of a Soviet attack or desire to attack?

A good part of that answer has come in piecemeal and bits over these past few weeks from American military leaders and key men in the Eisenhower administration, either in testimony before Congress or in speeches.

The latest view of present and future has come from a man whose own knowledge of American and Soviet strength is a basic element in shaping the thinking of the government: Allen W. Dulles.

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency, which is this country's super-spy agency overseas. He gave some of his thinking in a speech in New Orleans this week.

Since it coincides with testimony given Congress by the military leaders in large part, it can be summarized here as the attitude of the Eisenhower administration toward the Soviet Union, present and future.

The Soviets do not now have military superiority over the United States and are not likely to provoke "at this time."

The reason is they know this country has the power, through long-range bombers and nuclear bombs, to retaliate with such terrible devastation that it would not be sensible to start a war which would cause the U.S.S.R. such damage.

In short, Dulles said: "I consider that our military posture is stronger and our ability to inflict damage is today greater than that of the Soviet Union."

Dulles was thus reflecting what seems to be a great self-confidence about the present, that is—which seems to permeate the top military leaders of the country.

But this doesn't necessarily mean that even if the United States should stay ahead of the Soviets militarily—and that's questionable—that the Soviet Union will not be able to move step by step to gobble up the world. Why?

Because they are putting their greatest emphasis on long-range missiles which could reach not only any part of Europe or Asia but the United States, too.

Just assume that in 10 years both the United States and the Soviet Union have all the long-range missiles they need. Does that mean the two sides just glare at each other, with both afraid to move?

Actually—and this is interpreting what has been said—such a stalemate in terror weapons may work to Soviet advantage. Without starting war, the Soviets may try conquest by subversion, infiltration, economic help and other means.

If they so move—without provoking war—would the United States start a war over nonmilitary Soviet aggression?

It hardly seems likely. If only because once the United States tried shooting missiles the Soviets with the same kind of long-range weapons could make us sorry we started, just as we could make them sorry now.

So there may be years of so-called peace which is not peace. Dulles himself doesn't think Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants war.

He said: Khrushchev "is convinced that the final victory of communism can be achieved mainly by nonmilitary means. Here the Soviet economic offensive looms large."

To sum up: The leaders don't look for war now or anytime soon. Yet no one is predicting the Soviets won't inch their way around the world by other means.

Given Their Start, Older
Job Seekers Make Good

BY MARIE DAERR

Older people can use a helping hand when they're looking for work. But once they are placed in a position they do a terrific job of "selling" their employees on the merits of the older worker.

So says Herman Murov, administrative supervisor of Cleveland's Jewish Vocational Service, an agency that has an enviable record of placing older workers.

"A printing firm official who hired one of our older people told us the man cut corners so efficiently, he was doing in one day what some one else would do in four," Murov reports. "The official is a man who was quite skeptical about older workers."

"But the man he hired from us has convinced him that performance based on years of know-how pays off. You may rest assured that this employer's mind will remain changed—and that he will undoubtedly change the minds of some of his friends on the topic of older workers."

But, Murov points out, an agency such as JVS, part of the Jewish Community Federation, is a necessity for many an older person seeking work.

"We pave the way by setting up an interview with an employer," says Murov. "Many older workers who have been the victims of compulsory retirement tend to minimize their abilities and are afraid to go job hunting on their own."

"They have a negative attitude. They feel they have three strikes against them."

JVS has more than one way of meeting this problem. One is an energetic, earnest group of volunteers from Cleveland's Council of Jewish Women. These volunteers call on employers, acquainting them with the JVS older-worker placement service.

"Many of these women have had merchandising experience," relates Murov. "They do a wonderful job for us."

Another aid to older workers is a counseling service designed to put confidence into the job seeker.

Sometimes these older workers have imaginary ailments, he claims. A series of tests convinced one older man there was nothing wrong with his heart.

Counseling sessions boosted his morale. This man regained his old confidence to such an extent, he decided he didn't need their services any more. He found a job on his own.

Murov believes job-splitting would do much to meet the older person's employment problem.

"Some older people aren't in good enough health to work full time," says Murov. "Yet can't get along on Social Security alone."

"If employers would hire two older people, half-time each, for one job, they would be making a big contribution to solving a big problem."

Q—I have some Series E Government bonds which have matured. Is it true that, if I wait until after I am 65 years old to cash them, I will not have to pay income tax on the interest?—A. L. F.

A—You would have to declare the interest on your income tax even after age 65. However, with the double exemption you receive after this age you probably would not need to pay tax.

Q—My husband worked under Social Security from the time it started in 1943. Then he began working as a fireman for the city. Will he be eligible for Social Security?—Mrs. M. B.

A—Assuming that your husband earned $50 or more during each of 27 calendar quarters from Jan. 1, 1937, to September, 1943, he would be eligible for Social Security if he reaches age 65 no later than Jan. 1, 1965.

Timing Main Problem In Chemical Thinning

URBANA—University of Illinois horticultural researchers are continuing to study chemical thinning of fruit trees, the most valuable development in recent years toward reducing fruit production costs.

Frank W. Owen, UI extension fruit crops specialist, adds that because of the high cost of hand thinning, chemical thinning of deciduous fruit will undoubtedly increase.

He points out that in 1957 it cost $75 to $200 per acre to hand-thin heavily loaded trees, whereas chemical thinning cost only about $5 or $6 an acre. However, with rising costs since 1957, both of these figures have probably increased.

Chemical thinning's biggest saving comes from reduced labor costs. It takes one man all day to hand-thin 20 to 30 trees, but with chemical thinning one man can thin 20 to 30 acres in one day.

There are two reasons for thinning fruit: (1) removing undesirable fruit channels the tree's vigor toward producing larger and better quality fruit, and (2) thinning results in crops of more equal size each year.

Different Ways
How does chemical thinning work? Owen replies that the chemical's action destroys part of the bloom so that it will not set fruit. Just how it works depends on the individual chemical.

For example, CIPC creates a caustic action, burning the bloom. This material, applied at blooming time, is used for peach thinning.

Dinitro materials, used for apple thinning, cause the same type of burning action.

Amid Thin, a hormone material, does not cause physical plant damage. Instead it enters the plant's sap stream and causes the weaker fruit to drop off.

Timing Very Important
Perhaps the biggest problem is accurate timing of application. If the treatment is applied at the wrong time, the whole crop can be lost, or no thinning at all will occur.

Atmospheric conditions, particularly humidity, present another problem. A high humidity level at application time slows the chemical's drying. The result is more fruit drop than was planned for, unless the material is diluted to a lesser concentration.

Tree variety and tree vigor are two more factors that must be considered in determining the amount and concentration of chemical to use.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

CROP PRODUCTION MAY BE SMALLER

In most years the USDA report of Prospective Plantings, which is issued in March, attracts very little attention. But this year the headline hunters and farm alarmists went into a panic over one item in the report.

The panic-producing item was that farmers planned to increase corn acreage by 12 percent over last year. The expounders seized upon this figure, and conjured up a vision of an unmanageable flood of feed pouring from our fields next fall.

But before the rest of us become unduly alarmed by their vision we ought to study some of the other pertinent facts to get a more realistic picture of the whole feed situation. When we do this, we will find that total feed production is likely to be smaller, not larger, this year than it was last year.

FACT 1. Farmers plan to plant 83.4 million acres of corn this spring, or 9.3 million more than last year. Some of this increased acreage will be on land that farmers put into the soil bank corn acreage reserve program last year. In general this land was in the poorest areas of the poorest counties. Taking it out of production did not materially cut corn output. And planting it back to corn probably will not add much to the corn crop.

FACT 2. Farmers plan to cut the acreage of most other feed crops. As compared with last year, they plan to produce 2.4 million acres less of oats, 2.5 millions acres less of hay, 1.7 millions acres less of soybeans, and 0.7 million acres less of sorghum. (Farmers planned to increase plantings of barley by 0.8 million acres.)

FACT 3. Average per acre yields of feed grains were 14 percent higher in 1958 than ever before. This was not due to any big increase in the use of fertilizer, but to unusually favorable weather over most of the United States. The only drought area was a strip in North Dakota and Montana along the Canadian border. Such favorable weather and high yields are not likely to be so widespread this year.

FACT 4. If farmers plant and harvest the acreage of feed grains reported in March, and if the acre yield is equal to the high average of the past three years, total production of feed grains would be 133 million tons, or 2 percent less than last year.

FACT 5. If farmers harvest the acreage of hay reported in March, and if the acre yield is equal to the high average of the past three years, the production of hay would be 114 million tons, or 7 percent less than in 1958. Ranges and pastures, too, are likely to produce less feed than they did in 1958.

FACT 6. If farmers plant and harvest the indicated acreage of soybeans, and if the acre yield is equal to the high average of the past three years, the production of soybeans would be 311 million bushels, or 11 percent less than last year. Soybeans produce most of the protein supplement used in rations for livestock and poultry.

FACT 7. While feed production seems quite likely to be reduced this year, numbers of grain-consuming animals—hogs, poultry and beef cattle—are increasing. Thus feed production will probably be more nearly equal to feed use in the year beginning July 1 than it is this year.

Juniors To Judge Stock Saturday In Springfield

Many 4-H members and vocational agriculture students from this area will join more than 1,000 youths who will meet at the state fairgrounds coliseum in Springfield on Saturday, April 18, for the Junior Judging and Showmanship school.

Sponsored by the Land of Lincoln Purebred Livestock Breeders' association, in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois and the State Department of Vocational Education, the school is scheduled to start at 10:00 a.m.

The young people will be divided into groups during the morning session for instruction in grooming, fitting and showing beef, sheep and swine. Extension livestock staff members from the UI College of Agriculture and several outstanding breeders will serve as instructors.

After lunch the juniors will practice what they learned in the morning by judging 10 rings of livestock. They will judge three rings of cattle, four rings of hogs and three rings of sheep.

The Morgan county judging contest will be held Thursday, June 11, at the Warren Lakamp farm west of Jacksonville.

Spring Outlook Meeting Here On April 22

The annual spring outlook and livestock survey meeting will be held at Farm Bureau hall on Wednesday, April 22, announces Farm Adviser George Trull. It will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Don Walker of the U. I. animal science department will discuss feed supplies, livestock numbers and the economic outlook. Ed Lamb, field man for the St. Louis Producers association, will tell the results of the cooperative's annual survey on marketing intentions of livestock producers and the current condition of the market.

Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Plan 4-H School To Study Soils Conservation

The first 4-H soil conservation school to be held in Morgan county will open at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at Farm Bureau hall, announces Assistant Farm Adviser Bob Hayward, Jr.

There will be four weekly study periods and the school will be concluded with a field trip to be held Saturday morning, May 9.

The instructors will be Hayward, Farm Adviser George Trull and SCS Technician Ted Pierce. The school will take up different soil types, fertility levels and chemical testing. All interested 4-H members are urged to enroll.

U. I. ALUMNI GROUP NAMES MORGAN MAN

Melvin Martin, Alexander farmer, was elected a director of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture Alumni association when it met in Urbana during the Farm and Home Festival.

Other directors are Curt Eckert of Belleville, Joe Ashbrook of Rossville, Don Lee of Mt. Vernon and Bill Dimond of Lovington.

Roy Yung of Springfield, former Illinois director of agriculture, was elected vice president, and Fred Hoppin of Lincoln, secretary of the Illinois Swine Improvement association, was named president.

22 Complete Annual 4-H Tractor School

A highly successful 4-H tractor maintenance school closed last Tuesday evening when 19 of the students gave demonstrations on how to take care of certain elements of a tractor. They appeared at "Family Night" held at Farm Bureau hall.

The school was held at the Moody Implement Co., on Route 67 north.

Assistant Farm Adviser Bob Hayward, Jr., reported that of the 26 youths who enrolled, a total of 22 completed the school. The three students who were unable to give demonstrations last week will do so at the next meeting of the Morgan County 4-H Federation, which will be held May 6.

All students will complete the course by submitting a record book and participating in the safety driving contest to be held in conjunction with the Morgan County Junior Fair.

Members from seven clubs completed the school.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

Last week found the crew of pasture stimulators busy top dressing nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash fertilizers. It found the sheepmen and cattlemen eyeing the pastures and getting ready to turn on. It found Doc Mansfield, Station Veterinarian in a good mood as he checks road and feed in anticipation of good fishing and a reduced livestock health problem with the pasture season.

Fescue—Early Pasture

The promises of approaching spring and the grazing season will be more nearly fulfilled if we are careful at the start. Most pastures, if they are to return the most, should be allowed to reach a growth of about six inches. One pasture grass which generally foils us, however, is tall fescue. It starts growing earlier than most plants and often reaches grazing height sooner than we expect. Its very value and best use depends upon closer and harder grazing than on most pasture plants. On the Station, it is the fescue pastures the livestock men are eyeing. It is the fescue pastures which are tempting Doc to check his tackle box.

Shearing School

Shearing school, under the guidance of Dick Carlisle, Don Walker, and Perry Greathouse, livestock extension men was held during the last week in March. Let this be a reminder to all of us to make arrangements very soon for shearing our own flocks. We'll need to locate wool sacks, twine for tying fleeces, and make arrangements with a shearer. Every year many sheepmen get their flocks shorn later than they had planned because good shearers are usually busy.

Early shearing means cleaner wool with fewer dung locks. Shorn ewes in bad weather will take their lambs to shelter sooner than will unshorn ewes. As the fly season comes in, maggots are less of a problem on shorn sheep. Also, early shear cuts are generally healed before the fly season. Furthermore, most of us have more time to shear and take care of the wool crop now than we will later with the rush of work during corn planting and haying season.

Implant Pasture Steers
If you will implant your yearling steers going on to pasture with 24 mg. of stilbestrol you can expect roughly 10 percent more gain this summer. Also, re-implantation as the steers go onto feed late this summer or this fall will be well worth while.

What Do You Think?

By Jerry Lawless

Endless Circle
Did you ever sit and gaze at an "impossibility"—the circle? You can find much meaning in its form.

To most people, the circle is just a closed line or a line with no end or beginning. However, to some people it is very revealing. It represents wholeness in that it is complete in itself. That is, unlike any broken line, it leaves nothing to be imagined as to its end or purpose.

It represents wholeness because, regardless of its diameter, it can be sensed in the mind's eye just as well as on paper. While such geometric figures as squares and triangles can be sensed in the mind, still they cannot be fashioned so well as can a circle because, with all of their corners and sharp summits, which seem to point nowhere, they provide no rest to the senses.

Like to Draw a Circle?
It represents wholeness through its simplicity. Do not many children enjoy drawing circles or at least figures with closed, curved lines, before other more complex figures? Could they be unconsciously expressing a need for greater love or for "rootedness" or "wantedness" as Eric Fromm would say?

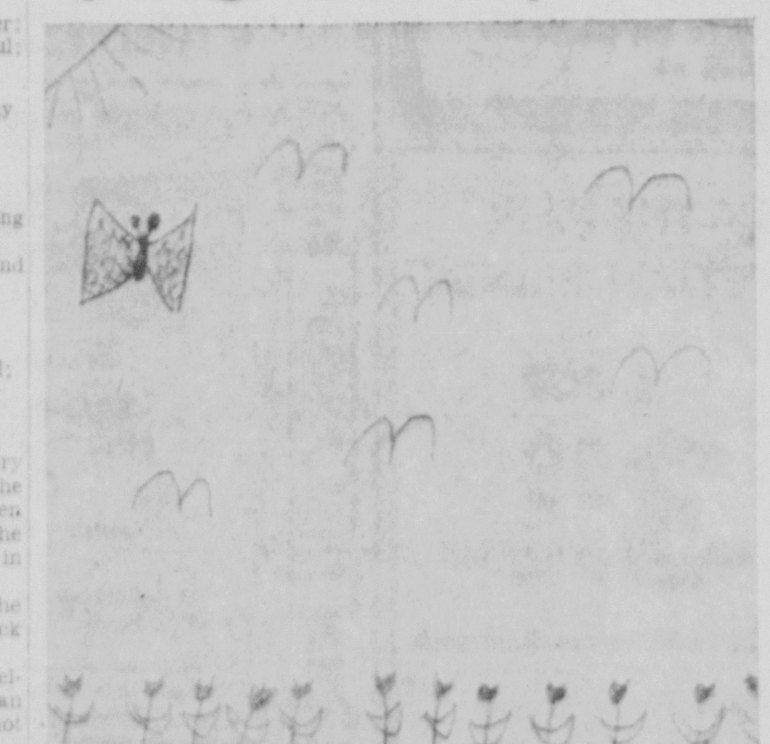

Lastly, a circle represents eternally simply because its physical symbol is unending. Might not the above four factors form the basis or some of the basic constituents of virtue? What does a circle mean to you?

A GIRL NAMED CAROL
There was a girl named Carol, Who lived in a great big barrel, She went to the beach, Got caught by a leech, And that was the end of Carol.

GLASS FISH
By Rip Barnsdall

Ambassis lala is the scientific name of this delicate little fish. Coming originally from India, it reaches a length just over one inch when full grown. This fish is practically transparent, hence the common name Glass Fish.

A delicate blue edges most of the fins in the males. The females are lacking in this coloration. The transparent hue has a silver gloss to it.

Here is an example of a fish which is considered an aquarium gem in our country. In India and Burma it is used as fertilizer!

This fish occurs in such quantities there, that farmers spread it on their fields to help build up the soil! This is certainly a true application of the old adage, "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence."

The Glass Fish is an egg layer and not easily bred. It is a rather delicate fish, and a number of aquarists have difficulty in keeping it. However, other aquarists have had great success with it, even having kept it successfully with the temperature dropping down into the forties.

MY KITTY

By Mary Pence Claywell

I have a yellow kitty . . . He's as cute as a cat can be. The way he tumbles when he plays, Is beautiful to see!

My kitten is a singer too. He strikes the notes just right, And the steady purring rhythm Is such a sweet delight!

He has a clean appearance . . . Always washes hands and face; He times his daily habits . . . And is never in disgrace.

He loves to frisk and play around . . . He chases wind-blown leaves . . . And catches mice to pay for food. Like milk . . . that he receives.

I love my pretty kitty. He's gentle, soft, and warm . . . And if I do not hurt him, He never . . . does me harm!

Flying Model Planes

By Joseph A. Smith

Giders, Rubber-Band Models
In Europe especially, as well as "Down Under" in Australia, larger wingspan high performance Gliders are very popular among more advanced modelers, and the over all cost of constructing such models is the most reasonable of all type of flying models.

From the Thermic B (by Jetco) the glider enthusiast might advance something like this:

(1) Jetco's "Trooper"—a "First" tow-line launched 30" wingspan glider (of stick and paper construction).

(2) Jetco's Thermic "C"—36" wingspan tow-line launched glider (same type construction as Trooper); but "C" should be a good performer.

(3) Enterprise's "Towliner"—a 24" wingspan glider of again stick & paper construction although a bit more difficult.

(4) Thermic 59 (or 50X) by Jetco (wingspan 50") is a real contest winner of first caliber. This is strictly a "Contest Type" advanced model. Finally, either the Jetco's Thermic 72 (72" wingspan) or the Jetco Nordic (an international contest type model with numerous world records to its credit) are just about the "top" in this field. One 50" wingspan glider flew over 7 1/2 miles from the suburbs to downtown Baltimore, Md.

Rubber Band Power

The Rubber-band powered field is no less challenging. The enthusiast might start out here with the simple Jetco R.O.G. stick model (w.s. 15 1/2"), then progress upward something like this:

Ranger—(W.S. 21"), Hawk—(Jetco 25" w.s. stick contest model), Falcon—(Jetco 25" w.s. stick contest model), or similar models.

For the more advanced constructor, who wants the tops in craft performance, such models as the "Gollywock" (by Midwest—w.s. 31 & 3 1/2") or, the very tops, the Berkeley Wakefield International contest model "Super Cloud." Still, these are only for the well advanced and experienced builder.

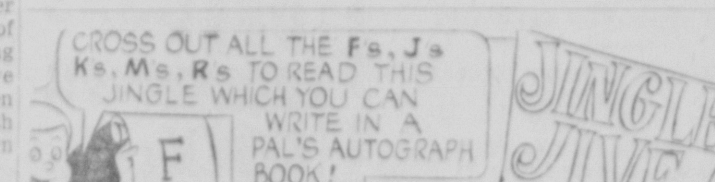

Next time we'll discuss Gas Free-Flight and "U-Control" craft.

White pelicans are one of the largest American birds and may have a wingspread of nine feet. A kilometer equals nearly five-eighths of a mile.

HELEN ARNOLD

Brave Little Rebel

By Loella Sloane Young

Chapter 2: Adventure Begins

Emmy Lou would travel by train, from Mississippi to Lincoln, in the care of Mrs. Effie Duncan, a teacher in the nearby "Jennings School For Young Ladies." Mrs. Duncan had recently retired her position in the school to travel to Lincoln, where she would live with and care for an invalid sister.

They would plan to arrive in Lincoln a few days before the date of departure, so that Emmy Lou could get rest and get to know the Chulpe.

Then, on April 26, the wagon train would start its long journey across the barren plain, hoping to arrive in Fort Laramie some time in July.

The very thought of the coming adventure set Emmy Lou dancing before the mirror, while her sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks, assured her grandmother, fondly watching her from the doorway, that Emmy Lou had completely recovered from her illness. Grandmother Thomas sighed when she thought of the child's departure. It would be a lonely house when she had gone. But the old lady bravely swallowed the lump in her throat and drew on her gloves, as she heard Sam, the coachman, halt his matched team of "bays" in the front drive.

"Come on, Emmy Lou," Grandmother called, "Sam's here."

With a cry of delight, Emmy Lou turned on her heels and ran excitedly past her grandmother and out the front door. She placed one little foot on the carriage step, and then stepped short.

Remembers Doll

She had remembered her doll, Gwendolyn, which had been left in the freestone chair. Quickly refraining her steps, she swooped her precious baby into her arms, and went speeding back to the carriage.

Sam had already placed her little leather trunk on the baggage rack, and was now holding out his hand to help Grandmother Thomas into her seat while Emmy Lou, anxious to be off, hopped up and into the carriage without any help.

"We shan't amiss you, miss Emmy Lou," Sam said, as his dark old face broke into a big grin. "And that Annabel of mine. She shan't miss fixin' those hotcakes for her lil' baby on Sunday morn'ings," he added.

As if by magic, Annabel Sam's ample wife and the family cook, appeared at the door and ambled down the steps to take Emmy Lou in her arms.

"Bye, Honey Lamb," she sniffed, as she wiped several tears from her eyes with the corner of her apron. "You be sure to write your ol' Annabel a letter some time when you get 'way out West there," she added tucking a generous lunch box on the seat beside Emmy Lou.

Impatient to be off, the child wriggled out of Annabel's arms and settled back into the carriage seat. "Just as soon as I get to the Fort I'll write you all about my trip," she promised.

Waves Goodbye
Nodding, Annabel stepped back from the driveway, as Sam settled into his seat and snapped the reins over the backs of the horses. Lifting her hand in farewell, Annabel watched the carriage as it rolled out the gate and disappeared down the street.

All the way through the busy streets, Emmy Lou chattered continually, pleased with the carriage ride, and the anticipated journey.

As they drew up in front of the station, Mrs. Effie Duncan, Grandmother's friend and Emmy Lou's traveling companion, hurried up to the carriage.

"It's almost train time, Miss Thomas," she informed the little group. "We must hurry so we can find our seats. It's going to be a long journey and we want to start it out right by being on time."

Next: Chapter 3. Here Comes The Train.

Good Morning

By Mabel Hall Goltz

The early morning sunrise
Fills all the world with cheer;
Its beams are soft and beautiful;
They warm the atmosphere.

The little stars are tucked away
Until another night.
The moon has tumbled into bed;
The sun turns on the light.

The red-bird sings his morning song
For he is always gay
While bees and butterflies sail round
To while the time away.

O soul of man, be lifted up
By such a heavenly scene.
And praise the Maker of it all;
It is on Him we lean.

VOLCANOES AND GEYSERS

The inside of the earth is very hot. It is hot enough to melt the rocks and minerals that often flow under the surface of the earth. They flow into cracks in the rocks.

A volcano is an opening in the earth where hot melted rock called lava comes out.

There are many geysers in Yellowstone Park. A geyser is an opening in the earth where hot water shoots up into the air.

Both volcanoes and geysers help scientists to know about the heat and pressure down inside the earth.

HE'S LOOKING TO FUTURE

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Kenneth Harrington of Garden City, Mich., convicted of auto theft, was offered a choice in U.S. district court of serving three years in the National Training School for Boys in Washington, D.C., or being turned over to juvenile authorities in Michigan. He picked the federal sentence. The reason: He thought the National Training School offered a better vocational training program than is available in Michigan.

Weapons Against Muggers PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A long hispin, a whistle, and a "good scream" are a girl's best friends when a mugger strikes says Alice Clifford, a lieutenant on the Philadelphia police force.

But if any of these means fail to drive off the attacker or bring help, then Lt. Clifford recommends the victim try to get a good look at her attacker's face and if he is masked, then a good look at his ears.

No two pairs of ears are alike, she says.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

Many of us can remember a time, not so long ago, when schoolrooms were pretty gloomy, hospital rooms were all white, and factories were about as cheerful as a cry for help. But there have been many changes...

and a Midwest designer says that if all factory machines were painted in attractive colors there would be fewer strikes, and brightening drab office walls with color is as good as a letter from home. He also says, "Prison walls are all light gray; that's one reason why people don't like prisons." It probably isn't the only reason. But maybe he's on the beam at that. You can't argue the fact that red ink makes a big difference in bookkeeping.

I see where the fashion experts have just selected the 10 best dressed women in the world. Any man with nerve enough to do that ought to be considered for the first flight to the moon. When you're considering the purchase of a new car be sure to test drive the new 1959 Plymouth. It has all the important features you want in a new car: — safety construction, ease of driving and parking, luxurious riding comfort, lots of power under the hood and many others. Come in for a demonstration drive soon...

Some of the smartest businessmen we know remain window-shoppers all their lives. Wanderers from store to store, searching for a place they can call their own, where the prospect of buying clothing will be a pleasure, not a predicament. At Lukeman's, you can readily sense the new feeling; you're not an outsider.

Here, your salesman will care about how you look—not how often you appear. When we suggest a suit, shirt, tie, shoes, socks—an outfit or a pair of cuff-links at Lukeman's, it's you, the individual, we're concerned with. Not a stranger, but a man with a store whose success will always be measured by your opinion.

Lukeman's
THE QUALITY KNOWN STORE

MAN WITH A DREAM—A. William Hajjar, professor of architecture at Pennsylvania State University, is the man behind a new idea in buildings—"air-wall construction." That means enclosing an entire building in a "skin of glass" to control heating and cooling. An experimental dwelling is to be erected on the campus this year.

Meredosia PTA Hears Nominating Committee Report

MEREDOSIA—A large crowd attended the April meeting of the Meredosia-Chambersburg P. T. A. Wednesday night in the junior high gym at Chambersburg. President Don Grisham called the meeting to order. Three Cub Scouts, one from each den, advanced the flag and led the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Robert Pool presented the nominating committee's candidates for election: for president, John Stanfield; vice-president, Mrs. Edward Irving; treasurer, Mrs. William Taylor; and secretary, Mrs. Emory Hirschman.

Mr. Grisham asked Mr. Stanfield to consider attending the state convention in Chicago. A life membership was voted to Mrs. Howard Edlin.

Mrs. Carl Caldwell announced that the Cub Scouts will have a fish fry Saturday, April 25, in the Scout room in the Mason's building. Mr. Grisham announced that the Band Boosters Club will have a dance in the Chambersburg gym on May 9, from 8:30 to 11:30. Supper will be served in the school cafeteria before the dance. The money taken in will be used either for robes for the junior high chorus or for a record player.
